Read the story

Boston Latin School began in 1635. Boys studied subjects such as Latin. It is the oldest public school in what is now the United States. Girls did not have the same chance to attend.

Education existed in Native communities long before this institution. An old school is not proof of equal access. Investigate who attended, who paid, and whose knowledge was valued.

Think, talk, and show evidence

1. State the main idea. Support it with two details from the reading.
2. Explain a change or challenge described in the text. Which words support your answer?
3. Use one vocabulary word in a new sentence about this event.
4. What can the image and caption help explain? What can they not tell you?

Follow-up reading: Harvard College is founded

1636

A college began in Cambridge in 1636. It later took the name Harvard. Early students were men. Many studied for religious work. Its history includes learning, exclusion, and people whose labor was exploited.

Harvard is the oldest college in the United States. The colonial legislature founded it. Its history includes ties to slavery, so a full account considers labor and funding alongside famous graduates.

Compare the two readings. Explain one similarity or difference using a detail from each. Their order does not prove that one caused the other.
