Read the story

Benjamin Franklin was born in Boston. He learned about printing as a boy. Later he moved to Philadelphia. He became a writer, inventor, and public leader. His life connected many places.

Franklin worked in his brother James's print shop. His later work joined science, publishing, and diplomacy. A birthplace connects a person to Massachusetts without locating every achievement here.

Think, talk, and show evidence

1. State the main idea. Support it with two details from the reading.
2. Explain a change or challenge described in the text. Which words support your answer?
3. Use one vocabulary word in a new sentence about this event.
4. What can the image and caption help explain? What can they not tell you?

Follow-up reading: James Otis challenges searches

1761

James Otis spoke in a Boston court against broad search papers called writs of assistance. Officials used them to search for goods. Otis argued that government power needed limits. He did not win the case.

The argument influenced debates about colonial rights. John Adams remembered it later as important. A later memory is different from a record made on the day of an event.

Compare the two readings. Explain one similarity or difference using a detail from each. Their order does not prove that one caused the other.
