Read the story

Jackie Robinson tried out for the Boston Red Sox in 1945, but the team did not sign him. In 1947 he broke modern Major League Baseball's color barrier with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Boston tryout occurred two years before his Dodgers debut. Racism shaped baseball opportunities. The Red Sox did not integrate their major-league team until Pumpsie Green joined in 1959.

Follow-up reading: Boston research helps fight polio

1949

Researchers John Enders, Thomas Weller, and Frederick Robbins grew poliovirus in laboratory tissue cultures. Their work in Boston helped later vaccine research. Scientific progress often depends on many teams.

The discovery was recognized with the 1954 Nobel Prize in medicine. It did not mean these researchers alone invented every polio vaccine. Distinguish a research method from later development and public use.

Compare the two readings. Explain one similarity or difference using a detail from each. Their order does not prove that one caused the other.
