Read the story

The Boston Red Sox won the World Series for the first time since 1918. Fans celebrated after an eighty-six-year wait. Sports can bring people together and become part of a place's shared memory.

The Curse of the Bambino was a popular story, not a scientific explanation for results. Separate metaphor and fan traditions from records of games, players, and decisions.

Think, talk, and show evidence

1. State the main idea. Support it with two details from the reading.
2. Explain a change or challenge described in the text. Which words support your answer?
3. Use one vocabulary word in a new sentence about this event.
4. What can the image and caption help explain? What can they not tell you?

Follow-up reading: Massachusetts health-care reform

2006

Governor Mitt Romney signed a law intended to expand health insurance coverage. The reform changed how many Massachusetts residents obtained insurance. It became influential in later national debate.

The state law was an important model for the Affordable Care Act, but the two laws were not identical. This is historical context, not current advice about benefits, eligibility, or medical care.

Compare the two readings. Explain one similarity or difference using a detail from each. Their order does not prove that one caused the other.
